PICASSO AND PORTRAITS

What do you notice about these portraits?

PICASSO AND CUBISM

He was one of the creators of a style called Cubism

Creates different views of subjects together in the same picture
Paintings appear fragmented and abstracted

Lots of geometrical shapes!

PICASSO AND CUBISM

Can you spot which features are a front on view and which are a side on view?

YOUR TURN!

You are going to have a go at drawing your own
Picasso Self Portrait!
Remember to mix up the view points!

STEP 1

Pick a shape for the head.
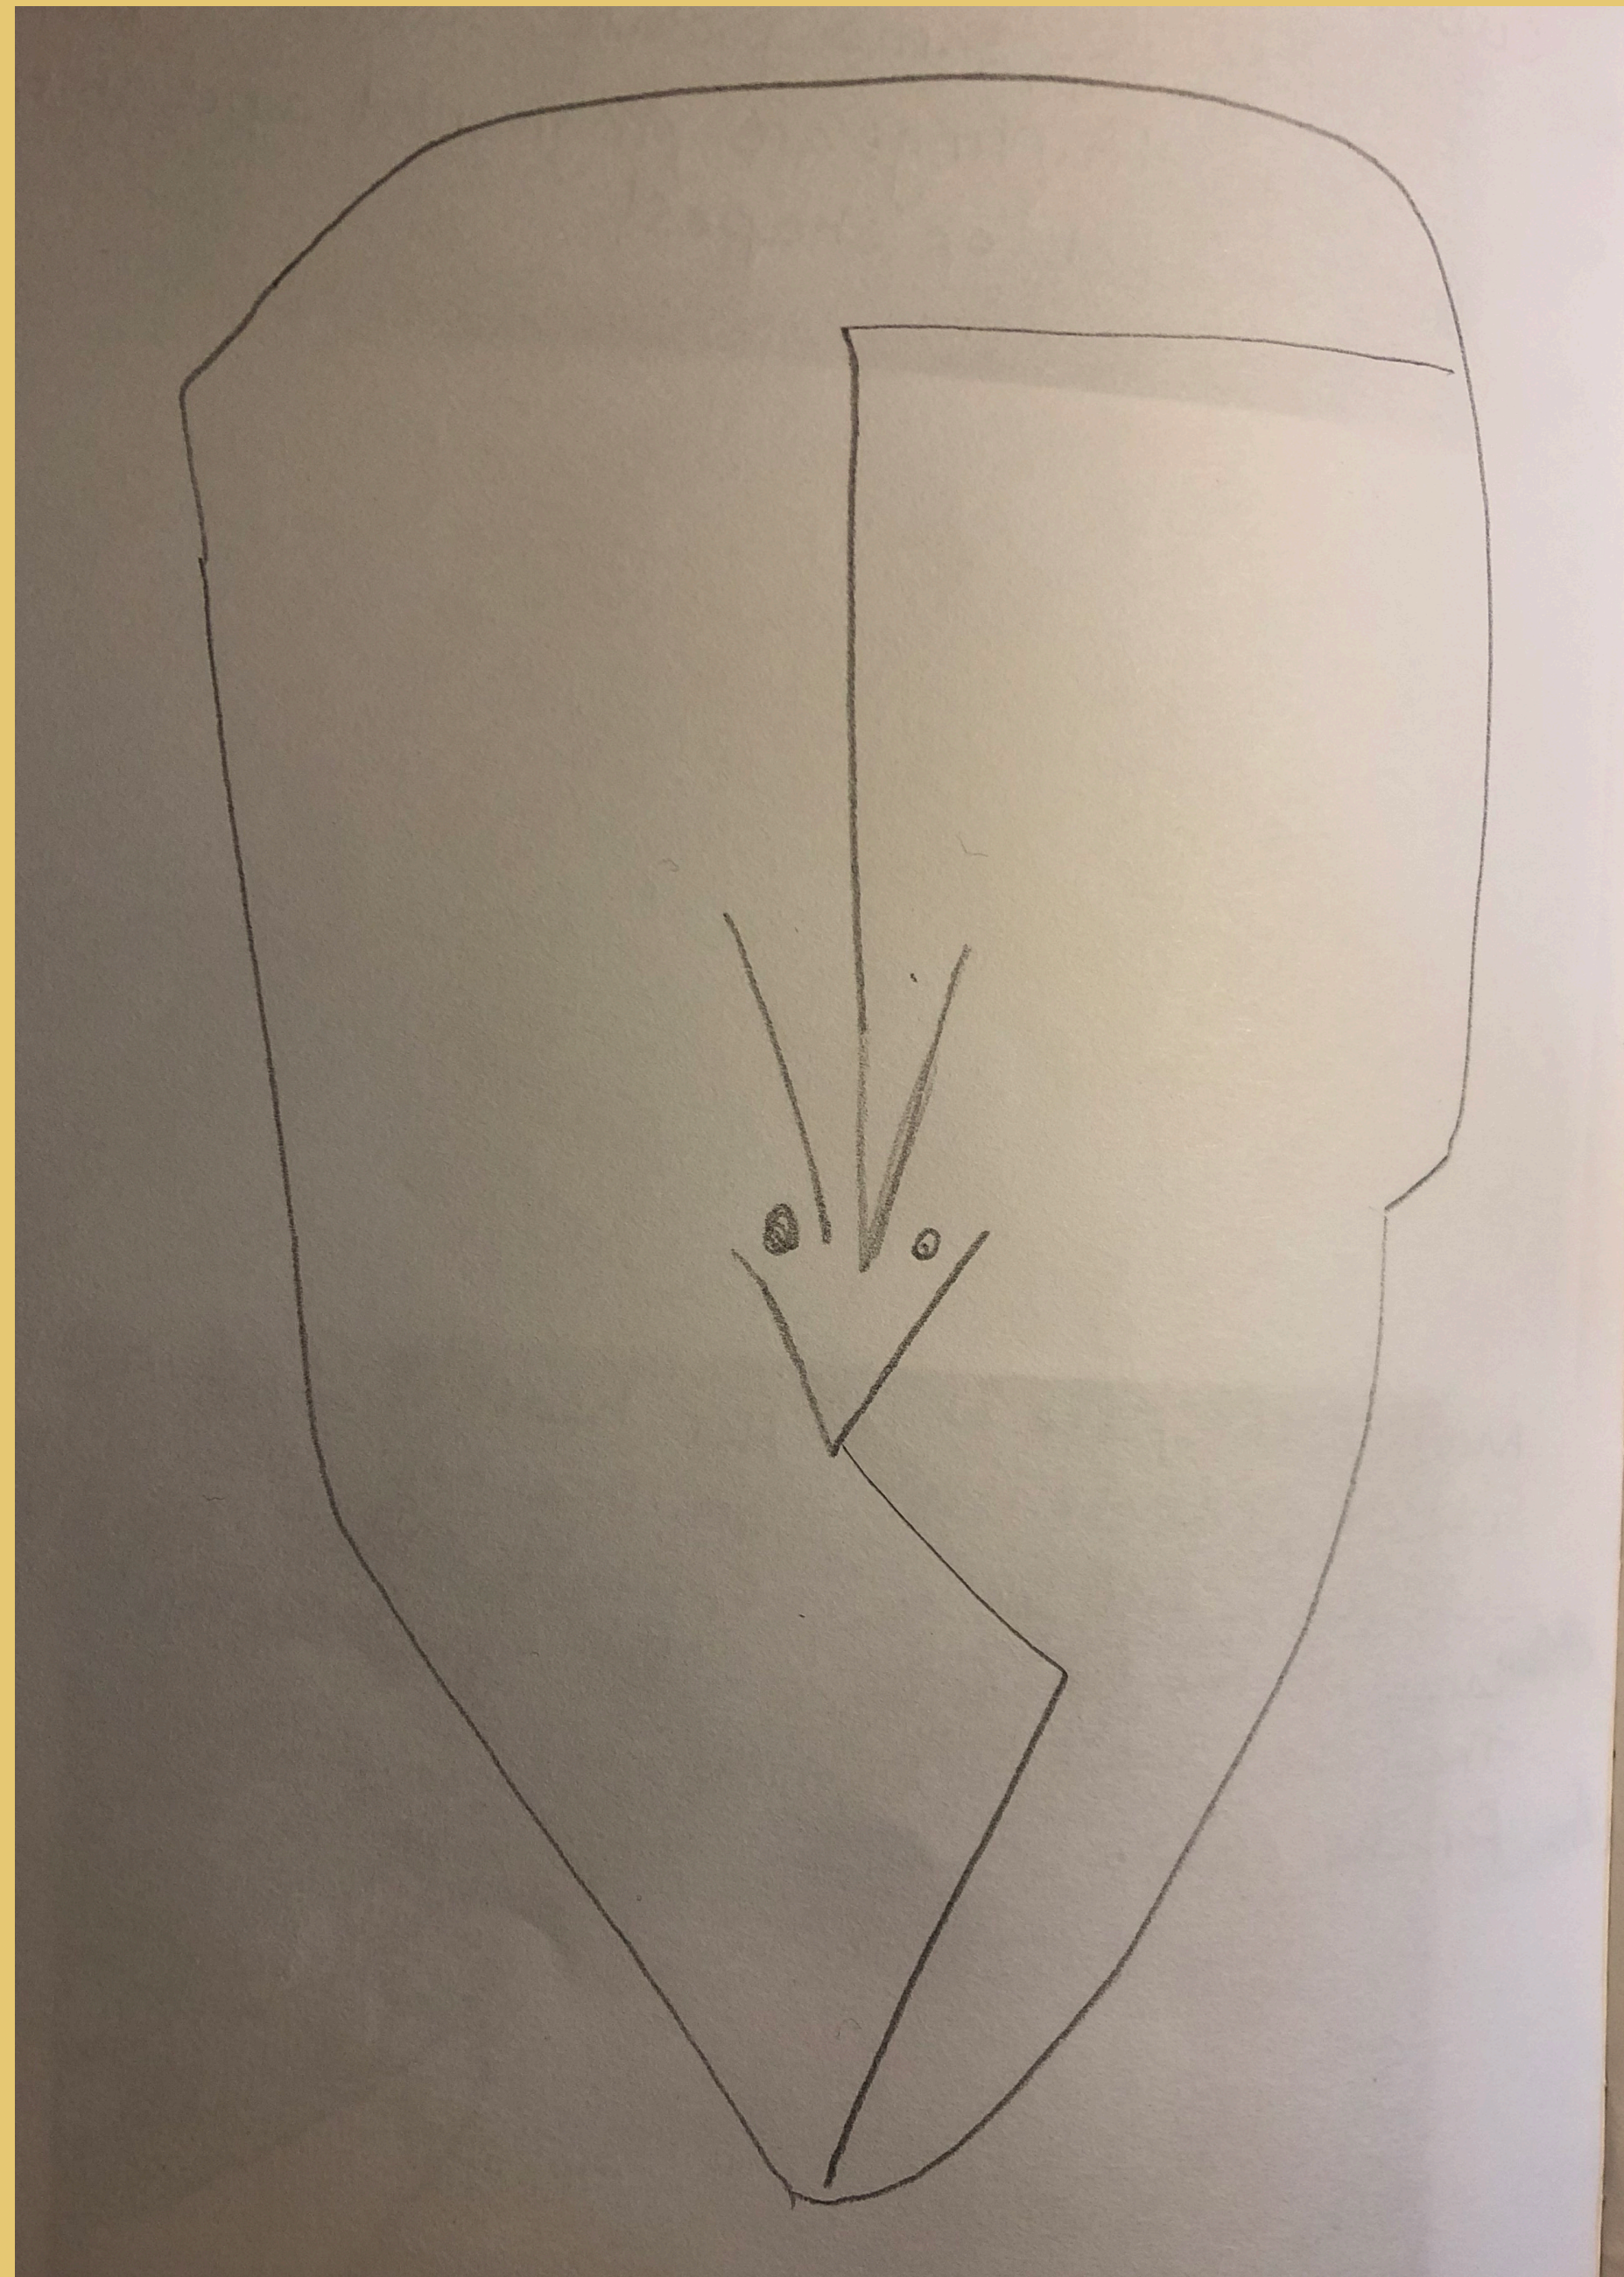

STEP 2

Divide the head, stop before half way

STEP 3

Draw a nose starting from the line you drew to divide the face.

STEP 4
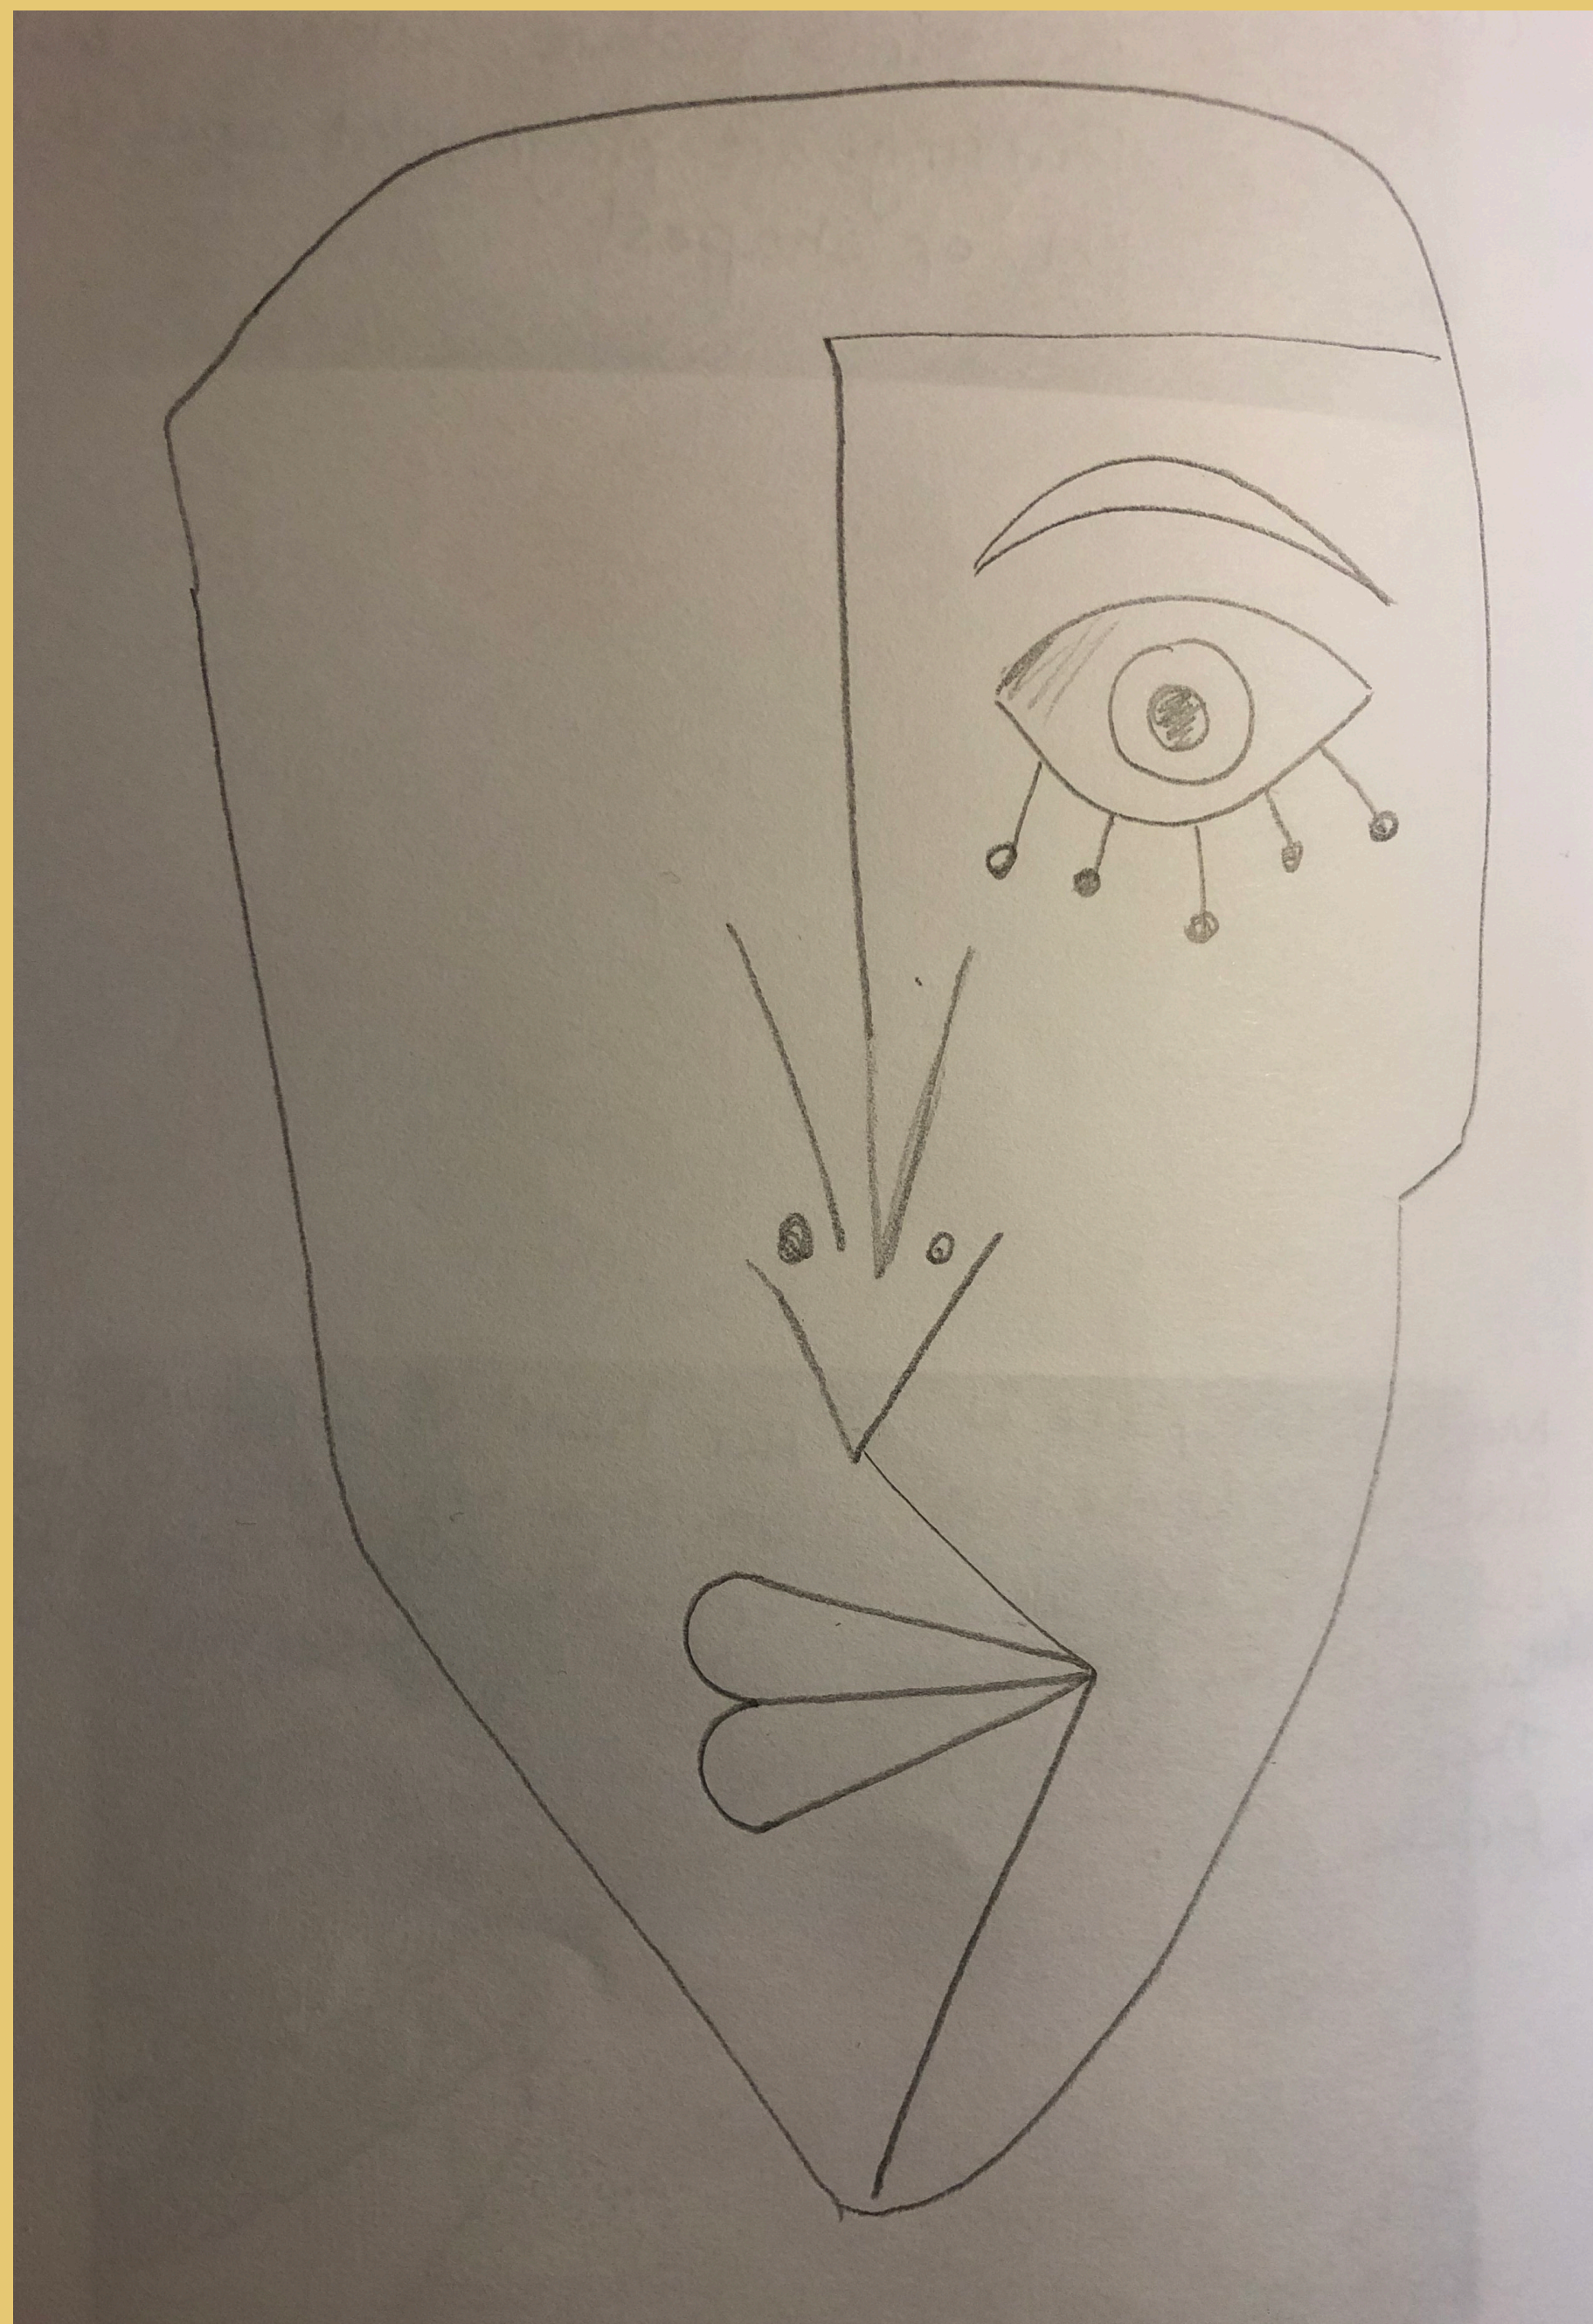

From the nose draw a line to the chin

STEP 5

Choose a mouth and draw one half on one side of the line.
Then draw the other half

STEP 6

Choose an eye to draw on one side of the face

STEP 7

Choose another eye to draw on the other side.
Perhaps choose a different view point?

STEP 8

Add a few extra details

STEP 9

Go over your face in pen!

STEP 10

Use oil pastel to add detail.
Not too much, keep it simple!

STEP 11

Now add watercolours or a watery paint.
If you don't have paint
you can use pencil
crayons
